11 Records Are Set By Twins

Gemini 7 Exceeds 190-Hour Flight

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Gemini 7, with a strong assist from Gemini 6, established 11 world records for manned space flight.

Here are the new marks resulting from the twin Gemini missions:

1. Longest manned spaceflight —330 hours, 35 minutes, by Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James Lovell of Gemini 7, exceeding the record of 190 hours, 55 minutes by Gemini 5 astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad, Aug. 21-29.

2. First rendezvous of two manned maneuverable spacecraft, as Gemini 7 and Gemini 6 flew 20 hours, 22 minutes, within 6 miles of each other, including a minimum distance of 6 to 10 feet. Russia twice had two spacecraft within four miles of each other but the ships apparently were not maneuverable and are not believed to have flown in formation.

3. Total man hours in space for one nation—1,352 hours, 42 minutes by the United States, compared to 507 hours, 16 minutes for Russia.

4. Individuals with most space flight time—Borman and Lovell with 330 hours, 35 minutes, exceeding the 225 hours, 15 minutes, held by Cooper for his Mercury 9 and Gemini 5 flights.

5. Longest multimanned spaceflight—Gemini 7, surpassing the 190 hours, 56 minutes by Gemini 5.

6. Most orbits for a manned space flight—206 by Gemini 7, exceeding 120 by Gemini 5.

7. Most miles traveled on a manned space flight — 5,129,400 by Gemini 7, surpassing the 3,338,200 by Gemini 5.

8. Most manned flights—United States 11, Russia 8.

9. Most men sent into space—16 by the United States (13 astronauts, with three of them

Await Hanoi's Reply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has asked Communist North Viet Nam to clarify conditions in a peace feeler by President Ho Chi Minh for negotations to end the Vietnamese war.

"I am prepared to go anywhere; to meet anyone," Ho was quoted as sayng.

U. S. Leaders Skeptical

Both the White House and Secretary of State Dean Rusk made clear, however, that U.S. leaders are deeply skeptical of the Hanoi offer. At the same time, officials stressed they would make every effort to reach an acceptable arrangement for negotiations if one is possible.

"We await Hanoi's reply," the State Department said Friday night.

"We declare once more our desire to discuss an honorable peace in Viet Nam," said President Johnson as he lit the national Christmas tree. "We know that nothing is to be gained by further delay in talking."

The peace bid was made Nov. 11 in a meeting between Ho and two Italians and passed on to the State Department by Italy's Foreign Minister Amintore Fanfani, this year's president of the U.N. General Assembly. The State Department made public the details Friday after published stories indicated the Hanoi offer had already been rejected.

Diplomats here and at the United Nations expressed concern that disclosure might torpedo the peace effort and bring strong Communist Chinese pressure on Hanoi.

Before entering talks, Hanoi said, there should be a ceasefire throughout Viet Nam and agreement that negotiations be based on the 1954 Geneva agreement on Viet Nam as defined by the four - point program laid down last March by the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

"The government in Hanoi is prepared to initiate negotiations wthout first requring actual withdrawal of the American troops," Fanfani reported. The North Vietnamese have consistently called for U.S. withdrawal from Viet Nam, but the four points are vague on when this should occur.

Replying to Fanfani's letter, which was dated Nov. 20, Rusk said in a Dec. 4 letter that the United States is "far from persuaded" that statements by Ho and Premier Pham Van Dong "indicate a real willingness for unconditional negotiations." The White House sad Friday night that it has had no indication that North Viet Nam "is ready to conduct unconditional discussions."

State Department spokesman Robert J. McCloskey said that the United States remains ready for negotiations without conditions with North Viet Nam and is awaiting a reply from Hanoi "to determine whether it wants to move this great question from the battlefield to the conference table."

In New York, Fanfani said Friday night that he had forwarded Rusk's reply to Ho on Dec. 8. "No answer has reached me as of today," the Italian diplomat added.

From Radio Hanoi, meanwhile, came the latest in a series of North Vietnamese blasts, this one a categorical rejection

Splashdown 11 to 17 Miles From Carrier

Give U. S. Wide Margin Over Russia In Moon Race; Bet Winner Not Known

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — Blackened by the fire of re-entry, the Gemini 7 space ship rode a parachute to a landing in the Atlantic Ocean today, bringing astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell home safely from man's greatest adventure in space.

Most Significant Ever

Weary and heavily bearded after 14 long days of the weightless ordeal, they guided their tiny craft to a splashdown at 9:05 a.m. (EST), 11 to 17 miles from the prime recovery vessel, the aircraft carrier Wasp.

The meteoric dive back to earth ended the most exciting and the most significant space voyage ever flown by man.

Borman and Lovell had traveled far longer than any other spacemen—330 hours, 35 minutes; flown the most miles — 5,129,400, and had given the United States a long lead over Russia in many other phases of the race between the nations to be first on the moon.

And, with a skillful assist from the Gemini 6 pilots, Walter Schirr and Thomas Stafford, they had achieved the first true rendezvous of orbiting space ships—an historic feat recorded graphically on color film.

Ask for Copter Pickup

The exhausted spacemen asked for a helicopter pickup, electing not to wait for the arrival of the Wasp. They climbed through the hatches into life rafts and gave the pilots of the rescue planes overhead thumbs-up signals telling them everything was okay.

A horsecollar was lowered from a helicopter and each astronaut was hauled up and flown to the Wasp, where excited sailors lined the rails waiting for a glimpse of them. They were deposited on the deck of the carrier at 9:37 a.m. 32 minutes after splashdown.

Bit Wobbly

A bit wobbly, but sporting huge grins, Borman and Lovell walked to the strains of "Anchors Aweigh" and—to the wild cheers of the Wasp's men—to the sick bay for their first checkup.

"Wait until we sleep," Borman said as he was led to the sick bay. But the plea fell on deaf ears of the doctor waiting to check on the effects of their long stay in the environment of space.

Their second choice was for hot showers.

"We're awful dirty," Borman said, "but it's good, honest dirt."

Ben James, NASA public affairs officer, said the doctors felt the astronauts came through mentally alert and in excellent physical shape.

After five hours of light sleep, Borman and Lovell awoke shortly after midnight and stowed away the loose gear and the last of the debris collected during the long days of life in the tiny space ship.

"Are you ready to come home?" Mission Control asked.

"Ready!" cried Borman. "Ready!"

"Righto!" chimed in Lovell.

Right on the button, at 8:28 a.m. (EST), Borman fired a blast from his retrorockets. The jolt of the four jet rockets slowed the 17,500-mile-an-hour speed of the space ship by about 300 miles.

Falling into the grip of the earth's gravity, it began the meteoric, 10,000 - mile dive to earth across the Pacific, Mexico, Southern Texas, the Gulf of Mexico and Florida.

4-Minute Blackout

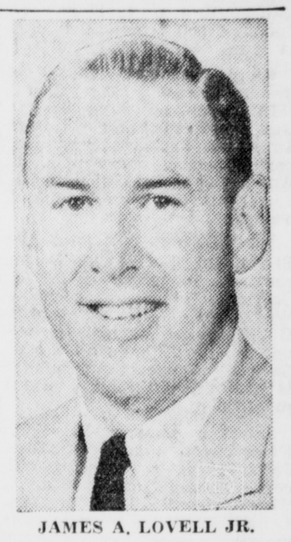

Sixty miles high over Texas, during the hottest part of the fiery re-entry, the spaceship was enveloped by an electrified curtain and entered a four-minute blackout period.

When they came through it, Borman reported he was flying a true course toward the recovery task force of five ships and 21 aircraft waiting to pluck them from the ocean 565 miles southwest of Bermuda in the Atlantic.

A Navy plane sighted the spacecraft bobbing under its giant parachute, tracked it down to the water, and got first word from the astronauts that they were all righ. The near perfect flight had been climaxed with a landing at precisely the planned moment.

It was not determined immediately whether Borman and Lovell, who had made a bet

Woodstock Will Get Rate Cut

2,900 to Have Lower Phone Bills

New York Telephone today announced a plan for a new schedule of rates which would reduce monthly charges for 1,300 of the approximately 2,900 telephone customers in the Woodstock exchange by nearly $19,900 a year.

Filed With PSC

The plan for the rate revision, scheduled to become effective Jan. 4, have been filed with the Public Service Commission.

G. Alan Johnson, company manager, said the plan provides for extending the company's base rate area to include more customers. The base rate area encompasses the more heavily populated sections of the community around the telephone central office. The plan also calls for establishment of a simplified schedule of rates for customers beyond the base rate area who have individual two-party and four-party service.

Decreases for the 1,300 customers will range from five cents to $5.75 per month.

Johnson said 70 customers will be paying slightly higher rates for better grades of service. These customers will receive two-party lines instead of eight

Man Accused Of Burglary Faces Court

A Clintondale couple slept peacefully in their home on Basket Street until about 1 a. m. today, when they were awakened by a bold intruder, who wandered through the rooms of the house, took a can of beer and then entered the couple's bedroom, according to Highland State Police.

Trooper Harry Foster, who investigated a complaint of a burglary at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Basil Sindone with Trooper Jack Ostmark, reported Neil Simmons, 42, of Loch Sheldrake, was taken into custody on a charge of second degree burglary as the result of the daring entry.

Committed to Jail

Simmons was arraigned early today before Justice of the Peace John O. Beaver, Town of Esopus, on the burglary charge. He waived preliminary examination and was committed to the Ulster County jail to await grand jury action, troopers said.

According to Trooper Foster, Simmons allegedly walked through the front door of the Sindone residence about 1 a. m., and after wandering through the rooms, he reportedly took a can of beer from the refrigerator and then made his way to a bedroom where the Sindones were sleeping.

Simmons allegedly grabbed

Order GI Curfew In Terrorism Wake

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—In a move to safeguard American troops from recurring terrorist attacks, the U.S. military command in South Viet Nam today ordered a dusk-to-dawn curfew on all American servicemen in Saigon.

The move was clearly aimed to minimize the effects of any terorists acts the Viet Cong may be planning on the fifth anniversary of their movement on Monday or during the Christmas holidays.

Starts Tonight

The curfew, which goes into effect at midnight tonight, was ordered for an indefinite period. But there were indications it will be reviewed after the Christmas holidays.

In other developments, mountain tribesmen in South Viet Nam's central highland sent their political dissatisfaction boiling over into violence Friday night and today and some bloodshed resulted.

Reports of developments were still sketchy, but it was learned that the Montagnards fought government troops in Phu Bon Province where a district chief was reported killed.

It was believed the government troops suffered numerous casualties and the dissident tribesmen were reported in control of Phu Tien, the district capital, at least up to midday today.

Negotiations were going on with government authorities, but their outcome, if any, was not immediately known.

The other provinces involved were Quang Duc, Darlac and Pleiku.

Agree to Negotiate

At Gia Nghia in Quang Duc Province, two battalions of government troops moved in and the Montagnards who had stormed into the provincial capital 100 miles north of Saigon gave up and agreed to negotiate.

There was even less information on the situation in other areas, but reports said there was some question about the status of several civil irregular defense group camps, installations that are manned by the mountain tribesmen.

These camps were said to include Pleorong and Plei Djreng in Pleiku Province. American officials there and in other areas declined all comment on the situation. They said it was strictly a Vietnamese affair.

Trouble also was known to have occurred at the Special Forces camp at Lac Thin in Darlac Province.

There normally are U.S. Special Forces advisory teams assigned to these camps and it is assumed there were Americans in them when the trouble broke out. The first sketchy reports, however, gave no indication of Americans being caught in the violence.

Behind the outburst is a political movement known as FULRO, the French letters for United Force in Struggle in Favor of Oppressed Races. It represents

Note 42 Arrests Last Month in Murphy's Report

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, in a report to the police board this week noted 42 arrests in November and 22 persons injured in 18 traffic mishaps.

Arrests were 28 under the October total, but that month had 28 traffic mishaps in which 40 persons were injured.

Of the arrests last month, 16 were for public intoxication, one for third degree assault, and four for disorderly conduct. Two arrests each were for second degree assault and malicious mischief, and one each was for third degree burglary, fraudulent check, petit larceny, first degree grand larceny, resisting an officer, second degree grand larceny, unlawful intrusion, violation of a family court order, and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Six of the traffic mishaps involved pedestrians, and 16 were injured in mishaps involving two or more vehicles.

Police cited 21 for moving traffic violations and 16 for infractions of the vehicle and traffic law. The total for the latter in October was 30, and 16 were cited for moving violations.

Quarrels Fail to Turn Into Violence

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican Communists apparently have failed again in their efforts to convert lesser quarrels into nationwide revolutionary violence.

The failure, a result of serious tactical errors, may cost them some political control in the labor movement.

Split in Leadership

An immediate example of this has been a damaging split in the leadership of one of the largest Communist-controlled unions.

This is the consensus among many Dominican and foreign observers watching developments in the now nearly settled government workers' strike.

Reacting to the provisional government's firm rejection of demands for payment of full year-end bonuses of one month's pay, strike leaders moved to keep the walkout alive amid signs of weakening. Exhortations turned to threats, however, and after that, with the Communists in the lead, into violence.

It was the nature of this violence — an inexplicable assault on the makeshift wooden stalls of sidewalk vendors — that drew a storm of protests from nearly all quarters, even among some strike sympathizers.

This is believed to have been behind the resignations Friday from one of the larger trade unions, Foupsa-Cesistrado, of three of its top officials, President Miguel Soto, Vice President Marcos de Vargas and Jose Deveaux, commissary.

Soto said he would organize a Dominican confederation of rev-

Castle Point Is To Get New Unit

The office of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick announced Friday that President Johnson has approved plans for the Veterans Administration to establish a 128-bed nursing care unit at the Castle Point Veterans' Administration Hospital, Chelsea.

The 128 beds at Castle Point will be a part of the 4,000 nursing care beds authorized for the Veterans Administration earlier this year by the Congress.

A program of modernization of the Castle Point facilities costing about $300,000 will begin in late 1966 or early 1967. The plans call for the nursing beds to be operational by June 1967.

Rep. Resnick, who is expected to arrive in Viet Nam today to begin a 10-day inspection trip, was aware before his departure that the administration was considering such a plan. He refrained from comment until the administration announced its approval of the VA plans.

His statement on the decision was released by his office today. The Castle Point hospital was one of the Veterans Administration facilities which was to have been closed last summer. Although the decision was reversed, following a spirited challenge by a House ad hoc committee, headed by Congressman Resnick, there were a number of skeptics who said that they thought this was just a temporary decision and that the hospital would surely be closed in another year or so.

"This once again justifies the wisdom of the administration in keeping Castle Point open. This

Frenchmen to Ballot

See Close DeGaulle-Mitterand Tally

PARIS (AP) — France elects a president Sunday, choosing between what incumbent Charles de Gaulle calls the "stability" of his regime and opponent Francois Mitterrand's promise of a "return to democratic government."

Many observers believe the election will be close. But it is not certain to what extent Mitterrand, a lawyer with Socialist and Communist support, has been able to capitalize on discontent with the Gaullist regime.

Points to Disaffection

However, the mere fact that the election is a run-off demonstrates that disaffection exists in a significant quantty.

In the first round of voting Dec. 5, when six candidates were on the ballot, De Gaulle got 45 per cent of the vote. He needed a simple majority to win.

Most opposition votes were divided among Mitterrand, who received 32 per cent, right-winger Jean-Louis Tixier-Vgnancour, 5 per cent, and centrist Jean Lecanuet, 15 per cent.

Mitterrand likely will benefit from the right wing's image of De Gaulle as the symbol of the French empire's dismemberment. Tixier-Vignancour has asked his supporters to vote for Mitterrand.

Lecanuet, whose principal campaign plank was a united Europe, has asked his 3.7 million supporters not to vote for De Gaulle. But he did not openly endorse Mitterrand either.

A poll taken three days ago showed 22 per cent of the voters undecided. De Gaulle had 54 per cent of those decided and Mitterrand 46 per cent.

Vows to Heal Rupture

Mitterrand has campaigned hard for the Lecanuet vote, promising to heal the rupture in the Common Market caused by De Gaulle's withdrawal of French ministers last June.

De Gaulle has permitted himself to hint at reapprochement with the Common Market and at a European "federation" that could include Britain. De Gaulle vetoed British Common Market membership in 1963.

On domestic issues, Mitterrand has emphasized what he says are French inadequacies in

4 Persons Are Hurt In Traffic Mishaps

Four persons were injured, a motorist was cited for a violation, and an Accord man escaped injury as his car overturned and burst into flames, as the result of traffic accidents investigated by area authorities.

An Accord motorist escaped injury when his car rolled over early today on Route 209 in the Town of Marbletown and burst into flames.

State Police at the Lake Katrine substation said that Alfred Kaufmann, 25, of Box 1, Accord RD 1, was driving a 1964 sports car south on Rt. 209 about seven miles south of Rt. 28 when he fell asleep. They said that the vehicle left the road, went into a field and rolled over. Kaufmann fled the car, which became enveloped in flames, they said.

Hurley volunteer fire fighters responded to the scene at 4:06 a. m. They returned to service at 5:48 a. m., according to Mutual Aid Fire Control Center.

Troopers Thomas Searles and Peter Bebensee investigated.

Two men were injured at 11:30 p. m. Friday in a two-car collision which occurred on Route 9W near Esopus.

Highland State Police said the vehicles were driven by Douglas Cookingham, 46, Hyde Park, and Eugene Duplesis, 38, Saugerties. Troopers Harry Foster and Jack Ostmark reported Cookingham was traveling south and apparently crossed the center of the highway as the vehicles collided.

Cookingham was treated at Vassar Hospital for a laceration of the right cheek. Duplesis was treated for a scalp laceration

Manger Theology

The reality of divine love, so modestly manifested in a manger happening, is beautifully presented in the gospel stories which give us the account of the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem. This should kindle in us the soul encouraging awareness that Christmas was meant to deliver us from the frustrating complexities which we so often associate mistakenly with the revelation of the Divine.

Our theologies are so cold and formal—and so terribly hard to understand. We get lost in the forests of big words. The project of trying to envision or comprehend the Divine gets bogged down in the quagmire of scholarly phraseology. We chase meanings around in the thickets of our doubts and our misgivings. This makes us tired—and discouraged. We long for some simplified version of God which will mean something vital to us; some humble drama of truth that will make Him seem convincingly real and intimately near.

And then Christmas comes—with its beautiful reminder that God really is not hard to know or difficult to understand; that He resembles our babies more than our theologies. "And this shall be a sign unto you; you shall find the Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger." (Luke 2:12). The message is so simple; the sign so unpretentious. But the truth is so sublime; the reality so wonderful. We lose our doubts in the convincing evidence of God's nearness and love made real in a Baby born in a barn. Christmas removes the impediments of our hatched-up complexities; and reveals the Divine in all the disarming simplicity of an inhabited cradle of straw.

It all is so simple, and easy to understand that it catches the sceptics off guard. If God ever were to come to earth, they contend, He never would be caught trying to make Himself known in such modest, lowly terms. But for those who are wise enough to provide the Manger Happening with an opportunity to kindle and inspire their faith, nothing ever could remove from them the inner witness of God's presence that descends in peace and blessing upon their souls.

The out-working of this wonder lends its glow of distinction to the Christmas season. As Helen Keller has said: "Christmas is the harvest time of love. Souls are drawn to other souls. All that we have read and hoped for comes to fruition at this happy time. Our spirits are astir. We feel within us a strong desire to serve. A strange, subtle force, a new kindness, animates man and child. A new spirit is growing in us. No longer are we content to relieve pain, to sweeten sorrow, to give the crust of charity. We dare to give friendship, service, the equal loaf of bread—and love."

SPACE LAW NEEDED

The heavenly fireball whose decent was seen in three states, and which started fires here and there, is a reminder that Chicken Little's basic premise was right: things do fall from the sky. Moreover, ours is the first era in history when the fall of something besides heavenly bodies can be expected from time to time. The more hardware men send into orbit, the more will plummet back to earth.

Thus it is of more than academic interest that Sir Francis Vallat, head of the Institute of Air and Space Law at McGill University in Montreal, thinks a man hit by part of a man-made satellite could successfully sue the nation that placed it in orbit. This calls attention to the whole broad matter of law relating to activities in space, an area thus far explored little more than space itself.

There has been talk of creating a body of international law to regulate the uses of space—at very least, activities carried on outside earth's atmosphere yet within its gravitational hold. With several hundred objects already having been sent up, and many more to come, the need for such law cannot be doubted. It would be sound policy for the United States, as a principal user of space, to take the lead in formulating controls before the situation gets out of hand.

Britain's Wilson may call elections in March—just before a belt-tightening budget has to be submitted in April. Sounds a little sneaky.

PHILANTHROPIST SPEAKS

The opinions of a rich man are not necessarily better than those of other men, but anyone who has given $8 million dollars to the advancement of medical science in the past five years has certainly bought the privilege of having his views listened to.

On the occasion of his latest donation—$1 million to Mount Sinai Postgraduate School of Medicine in New York—William Black, chairman of the board of a restaurant chain, blasted the government and certain others.

"It makes me sick," he said, "to see millions being given for such nonsense as ballet by the Ford Foundation, the federal government and wealthy social climbers, when this money is so desperately needed to alleviate human suffering."

We appear to be on the threshold of many dramatic breakthroughs he said. It is his firm belief that if we poured enough money into medical research in the next few years, we could conquer most of our dreaded diseases.

In argument, something about man not living by bread alone could be murmured. Moreover, it is not altogether certain that the conquest of cancer, heart disease and all the other ills that beset mankind is pending only for lack of funds.

But Mr. Black puts his money where his heart is—a heck of a lot of money. To that there can be no effective reply other than sincere thanks in the name of an untold number of human beings who now and in the future will owe their lives and health to his philanthropy.

The Nobel literature laureate, Sholokhov, ignores appeals to intervene for two imprisoned fellow Soviet writers. He's not interested in helping the competition.

ALCOHOL AND ACCIDENTS

The dangers of driving after drinking are well known, Motor Vehicle Commissioner W. S. Hults declares, but during the holiday season, people sometimes ignore their better judgment, and the results are often tragic.

The facts are plain and simple—when you drink alcoholic beverages, the alcohol impairs your judgment, slows your reaction time, and perhaps worst of all, makes you think you are driving well, when actually you are driving poorly.

Driving after drinking not only puts your life in jeopardy, but the lives of others as well.

Drinking and driving is a deadly combination.

Don't risk ruining your holidays, and the holidays of others, by driving after drinking. It isn't worth it.

THAT OLD THING?

ASCAP, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, has compiled a list of song hits between the years 1892 and 1964. Some combination of the word "moon" appears in 43 of these titles.

It is interesting to note that the last great moon song was published in 1961, the year Yuri Gagarin became the first human to travel in space and President Kennedy proclaimed a landing on the moon to be a national goal.

For song writers and lovers, apparently, 'twas only distance that lent enchantment to the moon. Now it's just a rocky, barren orb and a future spaceship depot.

NEW YORK (NEA)—For the first time in nearly half a century Russians will celebrate Christmas this year in an atmosphere relatively free from fear.

To be sure, the Marxist-Leninist doctrine still sees religion as "opium" invented by capitalism to enslave the working class. But the reality of political life finally is forcing the Kremlin to seek some sort of accommodation,however hypocritical, with religion.

Since 1917, Lenin's successors have been striving to eliminate belief in God from the lives of Russia's more than 200 million Christians, Jews, Moslems and Buddhists. However, their pressure on believers fluctuated with the Kremlin's domestic and international situation.

When the Soviet leaders felt strong they intensified their drive against God. They relaxed their atheistic propaganda whenever, faced with a critical domestic or international situation, they needed the support of the people.

Before World War II Stalin had practically driven underground all religious organizations in Russia. But after Hitler's attack, to assure the wartime loyalty of the people, he was forced to relax anti-religious pressure.

Mot religious groups were permitted to reorganize with such recognized rights as limited autonomy and still more limited privileges of publishing Bibles and prayer books.

This lasted until Nikita Khrushchev came to power. Khrushchev, who regarded himself as a faithful Marxist-Leninist, apparently decided that the task of exterminating religious faith was to be pushed to completion. He resorted to a violence comparable only to the darkest years under Stalin.

The Kremlin's latest "liberal" policy on religion — in the view of specialists on communism — is due primarily to the uncertain political position of the faceless men who now rule Russia and to the disarray in the Red world that has resulted from Moscow's conflict with China.

Religion, in fact, has become another important issue that divides Marxist-Leninists behind the Iron Curtain and wherever they seek adherents to their cause in non-Communist countries.

Shortly before he died a year ago, Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's Communist leader, warned that "the old atheist propaganda is no longer of any use to communism." He drew a dividing line between Communists who blieve that coexistence with religion is possible and necessary and those "who still cling to the old atheist propaganda."

Togliatti's "liberal" partisans in Europe especially, for some time now, have been attempting to convince Christians that religion and communism can live together and even co-operate.

Of course this idea is not shared by all Communists and even less by all Christians. But it seems possible that this time the Marxist-Leninist strategy born of expediency will have some lasting and significant effects.

The Communists's new peace overtures to religion cannot be divorced from other changes taking place in their collectivist, materialist society. New political and cultural winds are blowing behind the Iron Curtain from which religion is also likely to benefit.

The Red rulers seemingly have come to the belated realization that all forms of pressure, athiest propaganda and violence against believers, have not smothered religion in their world.

When Chin Hits Dashboard Jaw Trouble Really Begins

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This was the first admission to the medical center for Tom Rolfe, 16. His chief complaint: "Jaw hurts."

In a one-car accident this night, Tom Rolfe, sitting between two companions in the front seat, was thrown forward, his jaw hitting the dash. He doesn't remember much about the accident and doesn't know if he lost consciousness.

He was brought to the emergency room where examination disclosed: Lower jaw was pushed back (posterior displacement of mandible); mouth hung open; swelling and pain on sides of face over both joints. No other complaints.

When examined he felt nauseous, was vomiting small amounts of old blood, felt dizzy and had a diffuse headache.

The patient was given physical examination to determine if there were other injuries and the examination proved essentially negative.

Neurological consult: Patient was lethargic but easily aroused, and was oriented to person, time and place; possible amnesia from accident; speech impaired due to fracture of lower jaw; no aphasia (loss of expression and comprehension of speech); pupils equal and react; no blood behind ear drums; remainder of cranial nerves—normal function; sensory, motor and cerebellum functions intact; reflexes symetrical; no evidence of trauma except on chin.

Impression: Cerebral commotion due to blow on chin. No residual neurological findings except lethargy. Would advise withholding surgery to jaw for another six hours in order to observe his level of consciousness, and any change that might occur. Manipulation of jaw might aggravate other head injuries.

X-rays were taken to determine extent of damage to jaw:

1. Neck of condyle (hinge of jaw) on both sides was broken.

2. Oblique compound fracture of the chin on right side, with a piece of bone sticking through the gums into the mouth. Patient was treated with penicillin to control infection.

At a later time, the fracture was reduced; chin fragments were manipulated into normal position; small metal buttons were attached by wires to key teeth in upper and lower jaws; lower jaw was brought into proper relation with upper and then immobilized by elastic bands held in place by the buttons.

This fixed position of the mandible was maintained for about two weeks at which time elastics were removed to allow controlled exercise, and then replaced for another week. Gradually more and more movement of the jaw was allowed until normal function was restored.

During period of immobilization patient was fed through tube.

Pipe Dream

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. John Tower of Texas was an ardent supporter of conservative Barry Goldwater for the U. S. presidency. Indeed, after Barry he was the favorite of many conservatives. But in late 1965 he seems to be bucking for the title of Moderate of the Year.

Some of Tower's helpers recently expressed keen interest in the things John Lindsay did in New York to win the mayoralty despite normally heavy Democratic majorities in the city. Said one:

"The senator has a very similar problem in Texas. He's got to get a lot of Democratic votes to win.

"And, you know, we've got a lot of nuts in Texas. We have to be careful the senator doesn't become the captive of the far right."

There is word, too, that at least some of Tower's campaign literature doesn't mention the word Republican.

Few of the nation's conservaties who so berated Lindsay this fall for shunning the GOP label in New York City imagined that one of their heroes might be running as the John Lindsay of Texas.

ONE OF THE GAMES on the Washington cocktail circuit is figuring out who all the other guests are at a party. A newcomer can run into problems, as former Postmaster General Edward Day found out when he was told at his first reception that a distinguished-looking foreigner was the governor of Puerto Rico.

"At a reception a week later," Day recalls, 'the governor' explained that he was, in fact, the ambassador from Peru and therefore could not enlighten me on the subject of Puerto Rican politics."

AN AIDE to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York tapped on the office door of another top Rockefeller assistant. The first one asked:

"Can I have a car sign?"

The other man dug into a drawer and came up with a sign reading: "Official Business — Office of the Governor."

It turns out that the signs disappear quickly if not closely guarded. Said the aide who wanted the sign:

"What really got me was seeing one of these on a flashy red sports car at the curb in the Bronx one day. A young 'cat' came out, tucked the sign in his glove compartment, and roared off."

DESPITE RUMORS of interdepartment squabbling in the Office of Economic Opportunity, OEO's top brass unites publicly on at least one front; reaction to the disciplinary problem in the Job Corps — which recently reached a climax with a riot at a Kalamazoo, Mich., camp.

Gist of this reaction is that "Boys will be boys."

Even Sargent Shriver, OEO boss, has gotten into the act. But Shriver's comparison of the Job Corps youths to World War II sailors on shore liberty caused several OEO officials to wince.

"I remember my shore patrol duty with the Navy," said Shriver. "Whenever a battleship docked and the crew went on leave, we certainly had as much unrest as we had recently in Kalamazoo."

Batavia to Drop City Sales Tax

ALBANY — The City of Batavia will drop its two per cent sales tax Dec. 31, as a new county-wide two per cent sales tax goes into effect throughout Genesee County on Jan. 1, 1966.

New York State Tax Commissioner Joseph H. Murphy announced that the State Tax Department will take over the administration of the new county-wide tax Jan. 1.

Plans for the county-wide tax were proposed in early June. Genesee County Attorney Albert E. Avery, Batavia Sales Tax Director Harry E. Mullen, and Batavia City Administrator Ira M. Gates coordinated negotiations between the city and county for distribution of the revenues from the tax.

In announcing that the Department of Taxation and Finance will administer the new county-wide sales tax, Commissioner Murphy noted that the consolidation of administration of state and local taxes will result in substantial savings to the local government involved.

Czechoslovakians Are Now Looking to West

(First in a series)

PRAGUE—(NEA) —The boys in the faded blue jeans roam the streets of Prague, their hair cut Beatle-style, guitars slung across their backs.

In New York and London they would cause hardly a head to turn. But in Prague, capital of Communist-run Czehoslovakia, their presence is an explosive one.

In vain does the Communist press ridicule their western-style haircuts and clothes. They are aping all that is most decadent in the capitalist countries, according to Rude Pravo (Red Justice), organ of the Czech Communist party.

But the boys in the faded jeans don't read Rude Pravo.

Angriest of all is Antonin Novotny, 61, president of the Czech Socialist Republic, who sees his plans for building a Communist bastion in central Europe being wrecked by youthful indifference.

The son of a bricklayer, Novotny at 17 was passing out Communist leaflets at factory gates. Now top Communist boss, he doesn't understand why today's 17-year-olds lack revolutionary ardor.

When the Nazis invaded Czechoslovakia in 1939, Novotny was a leader of the underground resistance, was arrested by the Gestapo and thrown into a concentration camp, facts which he never tires of reminding his listeners.

But the boys in the faded jeans, most born after the war, are tired of such heroics. They are bored by slogans, fed up with causes and parades. In their eyes, Novotny is a square.

And the fact that he once paid lip service to Stalin is the most damning indictment against Novotny, in their eyes.

A professor at Charles University I talked to quoted the Bible, Ezekiel 18:2, in explaining the present tension in Czech society: "The fathers have eaten sour grapes and the children's teeth are set on edge."

"Never has the gulf between generations seemed so wide as it does today," the professor explained. "You see, neither Marx nor Engels foresaw the rise of the Mods and Rockers, as I believe the English call them. This is what is upsetting all the Communist calculations."

By using passive resistance, young people — particularly the intellectuals — have forced the Novotny government to make concessions. Today a window on the West has been pried open a crack and the breeze that is blowing through is refreshing.

It is noticeable in the freedom with which Czechs criticize all that is wrong in the present Communist setup. Most Czechs will talk openly, without any backward glances over their shoulders.

But the breeze is blowing strongest through the arts. The period of so-called socialist realism is over, laughed out of existence, it might be said. Finished are the over life-sized paintings of Lenin patting the heads of little children. Gone are the dramas about the farm boy who falls in love with his tractor.

Prague art galleries display abstract paintings of the type that Khrushchev labelled as painted with a donkey's tail. American plays by Tennessee Williams and Thornton Wilder now get airings. When the Beatle's first film was shown here there were long lines waiting to see it.

Still the list of grievances which young people have against the Communist setup is a long one. They begrudge the two years knocked out of their lives by military service.

They resent low wages and the fact that promotions go to those who are party members in good standing. (The Czech Communist party claims 1.8 million members out of a population of 14 million.)

They are angry because marriage in many cases has to be postponed until the engaged couple can find a flat to live in. (The Czech divorce rate, 17,000 divorces annually, as opposed to 110,000 marriages, is considered high.)

So hundreds of young people in faded jeans roam the streets inadvertently handing the Communists their biggest headache.

"It would be one of the biggest ironies in history," the university professor told me, "if the socialist gains which their fathers fought so hard for were lost due to the apathy of the young."

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Captain "Yank" Albrecht, (Kingston fireman, retired) brought over a commemorative medal, of eight sides, about one and a half inch in diameter showing a view of Fulton's Clermont, under which is embossed "Fulton's Folly 1807." Attached to it is another smaller emblem decorated in white enamel on which in gold letters is embossed "Kingston - 356 - U.C.T." I understand this stands for United Commercial Travelers. Around this medal is embossed "U.C.T., Kingston, N. Y., June 1929." This medal can be worn with a ribbon. It is in fine condition and no doubt members of the organization know more about this little item.

Mrs. Dorothy Hurlbut Sanderson, author of Delaware and Hudson Canalway book, just sent me a "Handcolored - Panorama of Rondout Creek and the Hudson River, Kingston, New York" postal card, published by Forsyth and Davis, Kingston, N. Y. and printed in Germany. The cancellation reads: "Kingston - July 10 - 6:40 a. m. '07" and has a Franklin cent stamp.

I would say the photographer stood on top of Hudson Street hill in back of three white houses and so was able to capture part of Island Dock and Connelly's dock. It is interesting to note that Block Park as we know it today, at the time in 1907 was a number of inlets, which no doubt were filled in. The card does show the road which even today leads to Island Dock. It was a nice, neat, peaceful, safe and prosperous Rondout in those days, with the Hudson and Rondout Creek bringing a great deal of business to Rondout and Kingston by boat.

Mrs. Sanderson has no end of interesting little items in her book like: Eggs, which with ham constituted the canaler's main articles of diet, sold for as low as 80 cents a hundred, or less than 10 cents a dozen. Ham itself in average sizes of 10 to 14 pounds could be had for eight to 10 cents a pound. There were not so many cuts of meat then. A loaf of bread retailed at a nickle, oats were a cent a pound. Hay, delivered, cost $8 a ton, potatoes cost 35 cents a bushel, and butter 13 ecnts a pound. Chicken, weighed live, was high at 10 cents a pound. She has maps, pictures, and stories, true and folklore and even words of songs on canal-boatmen and their lives in this book, which would make a fine gift to be read out loud and enjoyed.

No doubt by now every reader has seen the new black four cent Lincoln, and the new five cent Christmas stamp to use on all holiday mail. I was given a page of the Sunday New York Times of Dec. 5, 1965 on which they have advertisements for the stamp collector, from a large New York City department store.

If someone's grandfather had by accident or on purpose collected or forgotten and put away a Lincoln Memorial issue of 1909, a scarce bluish paper plate block of six, not used, it is worth about $300 today.

Another United States, a Jamestown Issue of 1907, of which the store has complete set of the three values, the one-cent, two-cent, and five-cent, in sheets of 100 stamps each worth around $2,500.

Just think the one cent Pan-American with inverted center, issued in 1901, considered one of the most famous stamps of all time, not used is worth around $1,650. I am just wondering what will the stamps which were issued in 1965 and which most of our mails to and from us had used will be worth in some 50 years. Perhaps stamp collecting for grandchildren is a good investment.

Caldor Reports Sales, Earnings Hit New Record

Caldor, Inc., a promotional department store chain which has had increased sales and earnings every year since it was founded in 1951, today reported record sales and earnings for the nine months ended Oct. 31. The company will open new 90,000-square foot promotional department stores on April 1 in the Town of Ulster. May 1 in Northhampton, Mass. and June 1 in Manchester, Conn. All three stores will include 15,000 square foot furniture centers and will have adjacent TBA (Tire, Battery and Automobile Accessories) centers.

Leonard Schneider, controller, said the company is presently investigating additional sites for possible opening in the Fall of 1966.

Net earnings after taxes rose 41 per cent to $828,294 or 51 cents a share compared to $589,363 or 38 cents a share last year, according to Schneider. He said the per share gain was achieved in spite of an increase in the number of common shares outstanding, which was due to the conversion of a large number of shares of convertible preferred stock to common stock during this period.

Sales for the nine month period totaled $30,867,442, a 37 per cent gain over $22,529,911 year earlier. Earnings before Federal taxes were $1,549,710 compared to $1,091,830 for the same period last year.

The Board of Directors of Caldor, meeting Dec. 15, declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 27½ cents a share on the company's Convertible Preferred Stock payable Jan. 1, 1966 to stockholders of record Dec. 24, 1965.

Caldor presently has nine promotional department stores and four furniture marts and will open three additional department stores in early 1966. Schneider said the chain's new 120,000 square foot downtown Stamford, Conn. store achieved volume "far in excess of anticipation" since it opened early last month.

of "all British peace plans and proposals made under the pretense of peace."

The record of the Hanoi peace feeler and the U.S. reply was made public here after the St. Louis Post-Dispatch reported the United States had received — and rejected — a new peace feeler from North Viet Nam. The State Department denied the North Vietnamese offer had been rejected.

Not Taken Seriously

The Post-Dispatch said it had been told by "an informed administration official," who was not named, that the reported overture had been "looked at carefully" and was "not taken very seriously."

The story said the Johnson administration had been told of the offer by an American lawyer who together with an American writer in Rome learned that a meeting had taken place in Hanoi involving Ho, Pham, two Liberation Front leaders, and two Italians, Dr. Georgio la Pira, former mayor of Florence, and a scholar identified as Prof. Primicerie of the University of Florence.

The Americans told Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, about the Hanoi meeting.

Goldberg had already received the information from Fanfani, together with a warning that premature disclosure could destroy the contact by exposing the leaders of Hanoi to the wrath of the Communist Chinese.

Goldberg, therefore, did not reveal to the Americans the fact that he knew peace negotiations were taking shape but told them the U.S. government would give due consideration to the information they had conveyed. In New York Friday night, Goldberg said that the lawyer had prompted the Post-Dispatch story.

Thruway Dedicates Malden Data Center

ALBANY—A special Information Center to provide Thruway motorists with all types of data about overnight accommodations, resorts, points of interest and skiing conditions will be dedicated formally today at the Malden Service Area on the New York State Thruway.

The unique center, which will be manned by an attendant from 11 a. m. until 7 p. m. daily throughout the year, is being sponsored and financed by the private contractor who operates a series of mechanical Directomat devices at five Thruway service areas. The Directomats dispense free information about overnight accommodations and tourists' attractions to motorists at the touch of an electric button.

In addition to the Directomat machine, which formerly was located in the lobby of the Malden restaurant, the new Information Center will display conditions at various ski installations throughout the Northeast, colored pictures of scenic and tourists areas, maps of the Thruway System and other toll highways, and general data about highway safety.

The new Center will be staffed by Miss Gail Loik of Castleton-on-Hudson, an employe of Thruway Travel Services, Inc., of Lake George, operator of the five Directomats on the Thruway. Miss Loik, who has been specially trained for her new assignment by Thruway personnel, is a former airline stewardess and advertising agency staff member.

Bixby Participates

Chairman R. Burdell Bixby of the Thruway Authority, who participated in the dedication ceremonies at 9 a. m., expressed the hope that the new type of staffed facility would prove so beneficial to Thruway motorists and to operators of hotels, motels, resorts and similar facilities that additional Information Centers of this type might be installed at other points on the Thruway in the near future.

The Malden Service Area is located adjacent to the Thruway's northbound lane near Saugerties.

The new facility at Malden is located within a modern building that was designed to blend with the architectural format of the Thruway service area. Constructed of aluminum, glass and brick, it comprises a structure 26 feet by eight feet, with a glass enclosed corridor through which the public may circulate to operate the Directomat machine, to obtain maps and travel information from the attendant, and to view various displays of skiing and safe-driving data.

During those hours when the attendant is not on duty, the Center will remain open and lighted so that all of the displayed data may be inspected by motorists.

In addition to Malden, Directomats currently are in operation at the following Thruway service areas: Sloatsburg, on the northbound lanes near Suffern; Ulster on the southbound lanes near Saugerties; Indian Castle, which services both eastbound and westbound lanes by means of a pedestrian overpass, near Little Falls, and Angola, serving both flows of traffic on the Erie Section between Buffalo and the Pennsylvania border at Ripley.

Business Week in Review

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — With 1965 ebbing rapidly, businessmen turned their sights during the week on 1966. What they saw looked good.

It was the time of year for them to speak out about what they expected in the year to come.

Great Expectations

They were almost unanimous in predicting that next year will be about as good as 1965, which was a good one indeed.

There was little talk about the danger of inflation, and those who mentioned it minimized its peril.

Frederic G. Donner, chairman of General Motors Corp, the world's biggest manufacturer, predicted that 1966 would be another boom year for the automobile industry.

"With continued consumer confidence, products that the public wants to buy, and a further expansion of employment and personal income, the 1965 level of sales of cars and trucks in the United States should be maintained," he said.

In 1965, sales of 9.3 million cars and 1.5 million trucks topped 1964 levels by more than 13 per cent.

Another automobile executive, Henry Ford II, chairman of Ford Motor Co., was equally optimistic.

No Signs of Strains

"We detect no signs of strain in the automobile market and another good year for the economy should mean another good year for the automobile industry," he said.

Joseph L. Block, chairman of Inland Steel Co., predicted a continued rise in steel consumption with a gain of perhaps 4 per cent in the first quarter of 1966, compared with the like period of 1965.

However, he said production in the first half of next year probably would range between 60-65 million tons, 8 to 15 per cent below the 1965 first half, when users were stockpiling steel as a hedge against a possible strike.

Other comment included:

Austin T. Cushman, chairman of Sears, Roebuck & Co. — the one cloud on the horizon is increased paycheck deductions for medicare. But he predicted that in the spring of 1966 merchandise distributors would have gains of 5 to 6 per cent.

Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the Chicago & North Western Railway Co., cited the escalation of the Viet Nam war among factors that would spur business and said he expected a 6 to 7 per cent increase in railroad net income as a reflection of freight gains.

John R. Kimberly, president of Kimberly-Clark Corp. — the expanding economy of 1966 should favor continued growth of sales and earnings for the pulp, paper and a paperboard industry.

Predicts Oil Boost

John E. Swearingen, chairman of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), predicted an increase in earnings of 5 to 10 per cent for construction industry was optimistic and predicted a rise in housing starts.

James W. Walter, chairman of Jim Walter Corp., said the the oil industry in the first half of 1966.

Joseph S. Wright, president of Zenith Radio Corp., said color television was "the hottest consumer item in many years" and forecast a 20 per cent gain for the industry in the 1966 first half.

Automobile production maintained its high pace during the week with output estimated at 211,900 passenger cars, compared with 212,918 the previous week and 219,658 a year ago.

The industry rolled out its 9-millionth car of the year, far outdistancing the old annual record of 7,942,132 set in 1955.

Auto sales in the first 10 days of December totaled 246,219, highest ever for the period.

To keep pace with an anticipated rising demand for cars, Ford Motor Co. announced a $200-million increase in its capital spending budget for 1966-67 which will total $800 million.

Steel Production Gains

Steel production during the week moved up 2.5 per cent to 2,173,000 tons from 2,119,000 the previous week.

Steel stocks bounced up on the New York Stock Exchange on reports that continuing demand for steel from the construction industry and extremely strong demand from railroads had brightened the outlook.

The Federal Reserve Board reported that industrial production continued to expand at a fairly high rate in November with almost every sector registering gains.

Production reached 145.5 on the board's index, meaning that output was 45.5 per cent higher than the average level during the 1957-59 period.

and four-party service.

The total increased revenue from these customers will amount to $556 annually, Johnson noted.

He said the changes are designed to keep pace with community expansion and to make better grades of service available at attractive rates whenever possible. They are part of a program being carried out gradually throughout the area served by the company.

Increase Only Mile

At present, anyone beyond the base rate area with individual two-party and four-party service pays the basic rate for telephone service plus an additional charge based on distance from the base rate area. The additional charge increases every quarter mile.

Under the new plan, zones about a mile wide, will extend around the expanded base rate area. The additional charge beyond the base rate area will increase only every mile. Telephone customers within each of the zones will pay the same charges for the same types of service.

For his part, the 75-year-old De Gaulle has defended his time in office as responsible for "stability, peace, progress and independence."

The turnout Sunday should be large, perhaps as great as that large, perhaps as great as that of Dec. 5 when 24.4 million voted. There are 28.8 million registered voters.

Regents Seeking $5 Million to Fight Imbalance

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Board of Regents wants the Legislature to approve a $5,-million aid program as a weapon in the Regents' battle to wipe out racial imbalance in public schools.

The board confirmed Friday it would try for the second time to obtain funds to implement its plan to achieve a better Negro-white enrollment ratio in schools now predominantly Negro.

Sources close to the board said the Regents are confident Gov. Rockefeller will include the proposed aid plan in his new budget. His budget proposals for the current year did not contain such a program, although the Regents had one ready.

The Regents and Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. sought unsuccessfully earlier this year to have the Democratic-controlled Legislature insert the program in the budget.

Their appeal fell on deaf ears before, for one thing, the Legislature was grappling with Rockefeller's proposal to enact a sales tax as a means of closing partially a $565 million budget gap between spending and revenue.

For another, there was resistance among some legislators who opposed the idea of state financed, classroom-integration.

Signs of similar resistance have appeared already. During the so-called "pre-filing" period —Nov. 15 to the opening of the Legislature—at least two measures have been introduced that would bar transfer of pupils to achieve racial balance.

Still, supporters of the aid plan are said to feel that a Legislature unburdened by the prospect of approving new or increased taxes may be more likely to accept the $5-million proposal olutionary workers of "national and democratic orientation." The expectation is that it would be controlled by former President Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party, which formerly bossed Foupsa-Cesistrado.

Soto was promoted to president of Foupsa last August when the organization came under control of the Dominican Popular Movement — MPD— a pro-Peking Marxist-Leninist group.

Foupsa was behind the government workers strike.

Assailing both ex-Presidents Bosch and Joaquin Balaguer as "social reformists" the Dominican Communist party joined the MPD and the Castroite 14th of June movement in appealing for a continuation of the walkout which, it claimed, had now undergone a "revolutionary transformation" into a popular movement with massive support. There was nothing to substantiate this claim.

There is some evidence that small groups of right-wing extremists joined the violence Friday in order to try to bring even more discredit to the strikers and to the far left. Communist-led youths tried to block traffic in Santo Domingo but troops and police stopped them.

The belief is that the three seeking to bait the Dominican army and the Inter-American Peace Force into a violent reaction that would arouse Dominican Nationalists to their side. But the army moved in gently and the peace force sat back.

Seek Missing Youth

State police reported that Henry Paul III, 16, of Hurley Mountain Road, Hurley, has been reported missing since he failed to return from school Friday afternoon. Troopers at the Lake Katrine substation described the youth as being 5 feet 10 inches tall, with slim build and brown hair and eyes. They said he was wearing a Navy blue bench warmer jacket with a hood.

What Paycheck?

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Eldridge Moss dropped by City Hall and asked for the paycheck the city owed him for 28 years. Moss said he worked for John Gatson Municipal Hospital for one day in 1937, but never picked up his check. The comptroller's office checked its records and verified the claim. Based on Moss' old $27-per-month salary, the city owed him 90 cents.

Manages to Divert Thoughts

Mitterrand Free of Red Image Despite Support

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP) —Francois Mitterrand, who faces Gen. Charles de Gaulle in Sunday's presidential balloting, emerges from the campaign much as he entered it: suave, articulate and handy with a political turn of thinking.

The left-wing lawyer has escaped the image of a Red hostage despite backing by France's Communist party.

Minister 11 Times

He was a minister 11 different times during the tumultuous Fourth Republic but has managed to divert voters' thoughts toward the future and away from the past.

Despite his long association with the Fourth Republic, which many voters agree is a skeleton to be kept in the closet, Mitterand through his television appearances has seemed to emerge as a new and fresh personality. He has been out of the limelight for the seven years of the Gaullist regime and this apparently has allowed people to disassociate him from the past.

Mitterrand has been a deputy or senator almost continuously since 1946 and had a reputation as one of the most brilliant orators in Parliament. That reputation was made with trigger-quick blasts that cut down opponents. For the campaign he has tempered his style. He has avoided attacking De Gaulle personally and refrained from attacks on ministers.

A confirmed leftist since his earliest days in politics, he has garnered the support of the extreme right without soliciting it. His campaign has been based on the premise that France needs a young man ready to point the nation into the 1970s.

Stresses His Favorites

Mitterrand has stressed the things he favors. He is for a united Europe, friendly relations with the United States, amnesty for those still in prison for political offenses during the Algerian crisis, compensation for losses suffered by French settlers in Algeria, expanded programs for housing, schools, scientific research, greater efforts for low-income groups.

Each of these points has its special appeal for voters of left, right or center. And each of them appeals to some section of voters disgruntled with De Gaulle.

The main thing he is against is the French atomic bomb. That also has an attraction for those voters who feel De Gaulle's nuclear force is a waste of money that contributes only to a false sense of grandeur.

De Gaulle and Mitterrand have been appearing on television in succeeding programs. Mitterand is a vigorous 49, darkl handsome, a quick talker with a deep, resonant voice. De Galle is 75, bolstered by a towering historical image, with the campaign stance of a grandfather who knows best how to run the country.

Weary, Bearded

with Schirra and Stafford that their landing would be closer to the mark, won the bet. The Gemini 6 pilots missed by 13.4 miles.

Edward H. White II, the Gemini 4 pilot who walked in space, expressed his confidence in Borman and Lovell early in the day.

Bit to Left: Word to Wasp

"I sent a message out to the skipper of the carrier," he told them, "asking him to move off just a bit to the left of the spot, so you wouldn't put him in jeopardy."

In the final hour before retrorocket fire, the astronauts were serenaded from earth with the smooth rhythm of the songs, "Going Back to Houston" and "I'll Be Home for Christmas."

"Roger," they said, and they came home from the skies — tired, stiff and dirty, but bearing a great bundle of presents for the people of the United States.

The gifts of the bearded men were every space flight record in the books—and the assurance the Apollo spacemen to follow them may go on to the moon without fear of the mental and physical stresses of life in space.

They endured the weird environment long enough to have made two voyages to the moon —spending a full day on the lunar surface each trip — and they came through with no know.. ill effects.

"Certainly," said flight director Christopher C. Kraft, "It appears now that it can be done."

The main goal of Gemini 7 was to gather medical data on how well man withstands long exposure to the space environment. If Borman and Lovell miss the aircraft carrier Wasp by a wide margin and have to be transported to the carrier by helicopter, the exertion might upset some of the early data, which Dr. Charles A. Berry, Gemini flight surgeon, considers important.

Medical checks started as soon as Borman and Lovell boarded the ship.

Go to Kennedy Sunday

Sunday they will be flown to Cape Kennedy for a down-to-earth rendezvous with the two men who made history with them on Wednesday, Schirra and Stafford.

They were flown off the carrier to the Cape Friday and began telling experts of their dramatic meeting in space. Their information will help write the textbook for flights to the moon.

Shortly after they arrived at the Cape, Schirra and Stafford underwent two hours of medical checks then spent nearly three hours reviewing their trip.

The pair went to bed early and were scheduled to tell project officials this morning how they chased and rendezvoused with Gemini 7.

Demos Show Unity in Travia Vote

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Democrats dusted off the Assembly speaker's chair today for Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn, the unanimous choice of his party for a second term in the leadership post.

88 Out of 90 for Him

Democratic domination of the Assembly but not the Senate — gave special importance to the 53-year-old Travia's nomination here Friday.

The selection took only 25 minutes—a feat of unity regarded by observers as impressive for a party that wrangled for six weeks before electing Travia 10 months ago.

Travia's nomination was endorsed by 88 of the 90 Democrats who will constitute the Assembly majority in the session that begins Jan. 5. Travia said the other two had sent him messages of support.

His election as a speaker, a formality in view of Friday's activity, will take place when the 1966 session convenes.

In Assembly Since '43

Travia is a lawyer, father of two, and a member of the Assembly since 1943. He became his party's floor leader in the Assembly in 1959.

His election as speaker earlier this year came after the Democrats had won control of both legislative houses for the first time in 30 years.

'SpoonRiver'Deemed Success; Presented By Woodstock Group

The actors of Performing Arts of Woodstock presented "Spoon River Anthology" by Edgar Lee Masters Friday night in the Cafe Espresso, Woodstock. A second performance is scheduled for tonight at 10 p. m.

About the production, Loker Raley had this to say:

The plan of this work is an ingenious one — to recreate an entire town by unveiling the personalities of those who lie in the cemetery. And the author did not spare his energies in carrying out his project, writing, as he did, 190 biographies.

"Had Masters portrayed the essential motivations of his characters and given us the key to each personality this would certainly have emerged as an extremely valuable work. But, unfortunately, he gives us (in most cases) merely the events upon which each life turned. He produced a book of vignettes, not one of deep psychological insight.

"When a man or woman speaks from the grave, all vanities and defenses being over, we may expect to find a candor that can be encountered nowhere above ground. Indeed the dead of Spoon River speak with and air of revelation and each is ready to tell his secret. Yet the secret beneath the secret is what the author withholds from us — the penetrations into deeper dimension which such a project promises.

"On the other hand, the personal-story treatment of Spoon River's characters provides an effective vehicle for stage presentation. And though Masters never had this in mind, a group of actors in California saw, or stumbled upon, its dramatic potentialities and brought it to Broadway; where a projected six weeks run extended to three months. In directing the Woodstock offering, Larry Cox has not followed the Broadway production, but has independently selected the Spoon River poems he wanted to employ. He has made a telling selection, and has guided the PAW actors with great competence. They all are performing a highly difficult forensic task with distinction.

"I say highly difficult because each performer has many different characterizations to render, and each works alone, without dialogue to bounce back and forth. Yet the actor must produce the effect of dialogue with the audience, which represents the still-living of Spoon River or a similar community. The roles of the speaking dead are portrayed by Edith LeFever, Fred Green, Robert Denning, Bert Kricker, Robert Goodbread and Jo Chalmers. All six performers are remarkably good, and together with Larry Cox, as director, and Edgar Lee Masters, biographer of a town which is all towns, they form a magical eight to make a magical evening."

THE QUESTION OF PAYING

It is becoming much less customary than it used to be for a gentleman to offer to pay a lady's way, especially if they happen to meet by chance. For example, if a young woman and a man happen to find themselves taking the same train and she stops at the newsstand to buy magazines, the man instinctively starts to pay for them. If she knows him very well and the total is small, she perhaps lets him pay.

But if he is someone she knows slightly or if she has bought several of the higher-priced ones, she answers, "Don't bother; I have it!" and puts the money on the counter. It would be awkward for her to protest and bad taste to press the point. In this case, too, she buys her ticket and tips the porter for carrying her bags. On the other hand, if she has gone on his invitation to spend the day in the country, or to lunch, or to dinner, or to a theatre, he of course pays for everything.

A man on a train or ferry who finds himself next to a woman whom he knows only slightly need not offer to pay her fare or for anything she may buy from the newsboy or refreshment stand, the reason being that he should on no account put her under obligation to him.

A group of people going on an excursion or dinner together in a restaurant should agree beforehand on the handling of the finances. Going "Dutch" (each individual or couple paying his own way) is more often done than not. To avoid the confusion of several people trying to divide and pay the bills, it is far better for one man (or woman but only if it is a woman's group) to pay the entire bill, and the others to pay him their share later. Another method is for each to contribute a sum in advance, based on the probable cost, from which fund he may pay and then return in equal amounts any money left over.

Who pays for what at the wedding? The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Expenses," answers this question in detail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of this newspaper.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Phillis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, submits the following article on "How are you going to look December 25?"

Make yourself as pretty as your Christmas gifts; Many women spend much more time and thought on Christmas gift wrappings, to say nothing of the gifts themselves, than they do on their own holiday appearances. However, it is every bit as important to be an attractive wife and mother for the family as it is to choose appropriate gifts and to prepare the traditional goodies.

It's surprising that even small children are aware of how Mom looks! They love to see her with a becoming hair-do, wearing rosy lipstick and a crisp dress in a lovely color. And they notice, too, when she looks frazzled and coming apart at the seams!

Resolve right now (while there is still time) that you won't fall into the trap of being so busy with shopping — preparing — cooking that you neglect your hair and skin. Hair has many pressure of hats and scarves, the drying effects of heated rooms, and the harsh winter combine to take their toll of your crowning glory. Even normally-oily hair may become dry and brittle. An oil treatment before your weekly shampoo can do much to relieve this condition.

For this, warm half a cup of baby oil or salad oil and use cotton balls to soak the roots of your hair with the warm oil, making parts at intervals to expose the scalp. Wrap your head in a towel, and let the oil "work" for 15 or 20 minutes. Then have a shampoo, with 3 latherings instead of the usual 2, so that the oil is washed away. Hair should show more life and gloss after two such treatments. Give yourself a refreshing soapsuds facial while your hair dries. Take time to do your nails, and to shave your legs, using soapsuds to cushion the razor blade and do a really smooth job. Remember that a pretty mother is as much of a "gift" to the children as toys and games!

Sorosis Holds Its Christmas Meeting

The members of Sorosis met for their Christmas meeting on Dec. 13 at the home of Mrs. John Schomer. Decorations were in keeping with the season.

The meeting was called to order by the president Mrs. William Rylance, with 16 members present. Mrs. Grover Lasher, treasurer, reported $40 sent to CARE, the amount donated by members and guests at the Thanksgiving benefit tea. A letter of thanks from CARE headquarters was read.

Mrs. William Rylance reported that the hawthorne tree given by Sorosis was planted on Main Street in the block opposite Old Dutch Church.

Devotions and program were combined at this meeting. Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr. read Peter Marshall's "Let's Keep Christmas." She then introduced Mrs. William Ochs who read Alice Duer Miller's "The White Cliffs of Dover."

A card was signed by all with a Christmas message for Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, who is in a nursing home.

The afternoon ended with a Christmas tea and social hour.

Meetings will resume in March with a morning coffee on the 7th at the home of Mrs. Arthur Eymann. Mrs. Clifford Henze will be welcomed as a new member. Mrs. William Markle will do a book review.

Walter Davenport Sons, Inc., of High Falls, New York, a fuel oil, Kerosene, Coal, Wholesale gasoline, and Heating Installation business is privately owned. The officers being, Kenneth Davenport, President; M. Richard Davenport, Vice-President; Mrs. Maurice Davenport, Secretary; and William W. Davenport, Treasurer.

This business was started by Walter Davenport in 1920, the grandfather of Dick and Bill as a coal, feed and grain operation. It has remained in the same location since that date.

The firm is a Mobil fuel oil representative for the area; Mobil gasoline distributor for Ulster County; Mobilflame bottled gas dealer for Kingston and vicinity; Rheem water heater and boiler dealership, along with Armstrong warm air furnace franchise.

Men Appreciate "Free Gift Wrap" at Mayfair !

It was in 1939 that the first Mayfair Shop opened its doors in Kingston — at 280 Fair Street. The emphasis was upon Brand Name merchandise for women, and the Mayfair was one of the first local stores to institute free gift wrapping for all occasions. "This was very popular, particularly for men shopping for pretty gifts for their wives." The Mayfair Shop was the brainchild of Albert J. Cordeau and his wife, Thais Louise — the Cordeau's coming to Kingston in 1937 with the husband as manager of the Montgomery Ward store on North Front Street. Since its inception, the Mayfair Shop has made several moves in location — some for the purpose of better serving the public, while other moves came as a result of the owner needing the space occupied by the Mayfair. The Cordeaus have always been firm believers in advertising in the Kingston Daily Freeman, using a type of message fully describing the products offered by the store. "We used the Freeman to tell the public about our Brand Names and gift wrapping, we endeavored to treat our customers as friends, and we are enjoying our relationship with the people of this area," said Mrs. Cordeau.

From Rondout to Uptown and Two Branches

First Federal Savings and Loan Association was organized in 1899 under the name of Home-Seekers' Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, N. Y. Until 1957 the office was located in various parts of Rondout. At that time the Association had grown to a little over ten million and it was decided to move to the Uptown section of Kingston. A new building was designed by Harry Halverson and built at 233-235 Fair Street. From the time the building was finished and opened for business on July 5, 1957 the growth has been spectacular having tripled in size in eight and one half years.

John B. Sterley, President and Counsel of the Association has been associated with the institution since 1927 being the oldest director in years of service.

The Executive Vice President is Deweese W. DeWitt who came to Kingston in 1949 from the Walton Savings and Loan Association of Walton, N. Y. He was a former President of the New York State League of Savings and Loan Associations and served four years as a director of the Federal Home Loan Bank of New York. The last year he also served as Vice Chairman on the Board. DeWitt is also President of the Ulster County Heart Association and during his residence in Kingston has been active in the Chamber of Commerce, Old Dutch Church, Chairman of the Trustees of the Y.W.C.A.

The Association maintains two branches, one at 628 Broadway opened in 1951 and the other at Hyde Park, N. Y. opened in 1961.

The Use of Media to Sell Media

It has long been a practice for media (newspaper, radio, television) to purchase other media for more circulation audience.

Regional and metropolitan examples of this are the continued daily space purchases of a major New York City paper by McCall's, Ladies Home Journal, Life, Look, etc. In addition, CBS and NBC make similar media buys described.

The New York Times, Herald Tribune, Journal-American, etc. have in turn, purchased TV time to push their own circulations upward, and to announce Sunday Edition features.

This does not imply the buyer's recognition of superiority of the purchased medium. It merely acknowledges a need to capture more of an audience segment that might be found in another, and even competing medium. Or, the purchase is sometimes made — not to "capture" — but to conveniently saturate over a short interim period.

Translated to the local scene, Michael C. Starkman of Valley Advertising Agency, representing WGHQ-FM in its launch effort, recently, placed orders in The Kingston Freeman and other localized newspapers.

This "buy" decision by Mr. Thayer, Manager of the new FM radio station, a sister-station to WGHQ-AM was an astute, businessman's move to do everything possible to announce and give details of his own new product. In short, Thayer — protecting an investment — desired to pull out all stops in a short period of intense effort to let the entire county 'in' on the details of FM programming.

In parallel effort, Mike Starkman points out objectively, that while he represented Herald Tribune Radio in this brief effort, he has been doing similarly for the New York Times, a client, in the Florida market and in the New England market.

Questions and Answers About Advertising

Q. My husband, who is an engineer, and my son, who is a student of marketing, had a rather heated discussion on whether advertising results in higher or lower prices. Since advertising costs a lot of money, how can it possibly lower prices?

A. Your husband, as an engineer, knows how much less it costs to make a product by machine than by hand. But before a man invests in a machine, he needs confidence that he will sell enough of the product to keep the machine busy. Some of our largest businesses were founded in basement workshops by men who made their products at night and sold them during the day. Their success in selling the product gave them the confidence to invest their life's savings in better equipment. They then hired a salesman, then more salesmen; and as their business grew, they expanded their plant, invested in more and better equipped, and installed better systems, helping reduce the cost of making each unit. . . . This, briefly, is the heart of the mass-production principle on which vast industries operate.

But all these steps to reduce the cost of making a product in quantity are based on the ability to sell goods in that quantity. Here is where advertising comes in.

Let us say your husband invented a fine product that would be useful to millions of housewives all over the country. He also planned a most efficient factory to make that product at the lowest cost possible. "That isn't the problem," he would say, "but how can we sell that quantity at the lowest possible cost to the women who haven't even heard of the product?" The answer is — advertising.

The final price of every product includes all the costs of making and selling it. But with all these costs, most products born of mass production cost far less than if the article had not been publicized to the public, through advertising.

Most firms invest some of the savings of mass production in better quality, or better design, or better packaging, so that the product might have a competitive advantage over others in the field. As a result of this competitive struggle, the entire level of values offered by that type of product has improved.

The purpose of advertising is to tell of the total values a product has to offer. When low price is one of those values, advertising helps make that low price possible.

Dear Abby . . .

Truth Of The Kettle!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year a rather humorous letter appeared in your column from a little boy who was "confused" about Santa Claus. He said he saw a short, fat Santa in one of the stores, and a few minutes later he saw a tall, thin Santa standing on the street corner beside a large kettle, ringing a bell for the Salvation Army. The boy was indeed confused. But not more so than some adults.

For 72 years the "kettle" has been the symbol of the Salvation Army's Christmas appeal. OUR kettle is always manned by a man or woman wearing the uniform of the Salvation Army, NEVER a Santa outfit!

A small matter, perhaps, but we want all those who wish to help the needy at Christmastime through the Salvation Army to know WHICH fund-raisers represent us. Sincerely,

ANDREW S. MILLER
MAJOR: SALVATION ARMY

DEAR MAJOR MILLER: I appreciate your letter. And perhaps my readers would like to know the interesting story of how the "kettle" became the symbol of your sidewalk Christmas appeal. On Christmas eve, 1894, survivors of a shipwreck off the rocky coast of San Francisco were brought to the Salvation Army for shelter. California, along with the rest of the nation, was gripped by a depression. The Salvation Army was already caring for thousands of impoverished seamen and longshoremen. When the food ran out, an ingenious lassie picked up a soup kettle and stepped out into the bitter cold. At a busy street corner she set up a sign, "KEEP THE POT BOILING." Through the generosity of passersby, that night there was soup for all. Word of the unique appeal spread to other Salvation Army posts, and it soon was adopted by them all — and it has ever been thus.

DEAR ABBY: Why is there so much sickness today? Everywhere you go, someone has a virus, back trouble, or an allergy or something. Back in the olden days, like say in Biblical times, they never heard of ulcers, diabetes or high blood pressure. And no one ever dropped dead of a heart attack. Why?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: In Biblical times, most men, women and children didn't survive long enough to contract ulcers, diabetes or high blood pressure. And considering that our bodies were not designed to withstand fallout, sonic booms, carbon monoxide, executive board meetings and countless other by-products of civilization, I think modern man is doing splendidly.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am heartsick, and hope you will publish this letter as a warning to other brides who are tempted to make the mistake we made.

Our daughter was married in August, and all who attended said they had never seen a more beautiful wedding. My daughter's fiance had a college friend who was supposed to be an expert amateur photographer, and he offered to take the pictures. The formal sittings as well as candid shots of the wedding, reception, etc. This friend came with cases full of equipment, poles, lights and half a dozen different kinds of cameras. (Others who know something about photography said he had a "fortune" in equipment.) Well, this man took the pictures all right, but not one of them turned out. He said something was "wrong" with his film! Now the occasion is passed and we don't have one picture of it, not ONE! Please tell other brides, if "friends" offer to take pictures, let them. But just to be on the safe side, HIRE a professional, too.

LEARNED A LESSON

Consecration Set Sunday At New Catholic Church

NEW PALTZ — It has been announced that the consecration of the new altar will take place at the new St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz at 4 p. m. Sunday.

The Most Rev. Charles Brown of Maryknoll, Bishop of Bolivia, South America, representing Francis Cardinal Spellman, will visit the church to consecrate the two new marble altars brought from Italy.

This ceremony is deeply immersed in the tradition of the church and is required before Holy Mass may be offered.

The official opening of the new St. Joseph's Church in New Paltz will take place on Christmas Eve with the celebration of the first Mass at midnight.

The structure is now completed and ready for use although the groundbreaking took place only recently. Due to ideal weather conditions, there were only a few days when the working staff was unable to proceed with the building.

When parishioners gather for the first Mass, they will see a new contemporary church with all the latest liturgical innovations suggested by the Vatican Council.

Led in the procession by the Cross Bearer and two acolytes, the altar boys will precede the celebrant of the Mass the Rt. Rev. Edward P. Monckton, pastor of the church.

The Mass will be the usual low Mass with the responses and the singing of the traditional hymns of Christmas.

Anthony Aiello, organist will accompany the singing.

Miss Sherwig performed with the orchestra and was principle soloist in Debussy L'Apres Midi D'un Faun.

Humanities Speaker

A recent visitor to the New Paltz High School Humanities class was Dr. Charles Stokes of the State University College faculty. In two separate lectures and demonstrations, he alerted the class to the vital place that science plays in the world today, not only by its many contributions of a visible and concrete nature, but also to ways of thought in solving problems and in looking at conditions and ideas.

He stressed the value of the scientific method as an approach to unscientific situations, the value of learning the constancy of change and recognizing that knowledge is subject to change; that discoveries depend on wide experimentation, careful research, and constant testing before they are publicized. He urged the cultivation of the attitude which constantly examines before accepting and attempts to look at ideas and things in a new way.

Two Bidders Steal Hand

In team competition with International Match Point scoring, it pays to go after all close game contracts. Hence it is not surprising that at both tables in a match at New York's Cavendish Club the North-South pairs reached a four-heart contract with no real play for it.

The play started out the same way at both tables. East cashed two clubs and shifted to the jack of diamonds, won by South's ace.

One declarer drew trumps and led out his jack of spades. East won with the ace and led his ten of diamonds, whereupon South made the rest of the tricks by means of a simple squeeze against West. He just took his last three trumps. This left South with two little diamonds and the four of spades, North with king-queen-small of spades, and West with a headache. He needed to hang on to all his three spades to stop dummy from making three spades tricks, and a diamond to keep South's diamonds from being good, and he could only hold a total of three cards.

East could have stopped the squeeze by returning a spade after taking his ace or by letting the jack of spades hold.

The other South found an entirely different way to steal the contract. At trick four, he led a heart to dummy's nine and played the five of spades. East ducked to South's jack. Then Sotuh led a second trump to dummy's ace and played the six of spades. East thought a long while and rose with the ace, whereupon South was able to get back to dummy with the jack of trumps and discard his two losing diamonds on the high spades.

We feel that neither East player should have gone wrong but it is far harder to make the right play at the table than when sitting at home with all the cards in plain view.

Heave-To, Farmers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban women have been told they are expected to do more farm work next year. A Havana radio newscast says a gathering of women was told that poultry raising, now 50 per cent in the hands of women, will be turned over to them completely in 1966. Women also will be called upon to help in tobacco and vegetable fields.

Santa Must Beat Mom

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Some of those letters little folks have been writing to Santa Claus were made public by Seattle post office people. One was from a boy named Larry, who said he was 7 years old. He told Santa: "I will leave a drink for you under the tree if Mom doesn't hide the bottle from Dad."

Keep the Change

PARIS, Tenn. (AP)—George Ray has discovered that tearing up a $5 bill can be more serious than the loss of the cash. Ray went to police headquarters to pay a $15 speeding ticket. He dropped a $20 bill on the sergeant's desk and said, "Keep the change." The sergeant insisted that Ray take the change. Ray walked out. A police car overtook him and an officer handed him the $5 bill and a receipt. Ray tore both up and tossed the remains on the sidewalk. The officer arrested Ray for destroying government property and littering, maximum penalty: $30.

Previous Mark Of 106 Points Made in 1958-1959

Blistering the basket for 47 field goals and adding 21 free throws, Kingston High broke the school scoring record with a 115-34 DUSO triumph last night at Port Jervis.

In handing the hapless Raiders the lopsided setback, coach Jack Gilligan's cagers erased the previous high of 106, scored by the 1958-59 squad against Fallsburgh.

Ten players saw action for the visitors and nine of them scored. After getting only 16 points in the opening session, Kingston had quarter totals of 32, 33 and 34 against the cellar dwellers.

Hanna Gets 23

Leon Hanna, who brought the crowd to its feet with his scoring and rebounding, had 23 points to pace the winners. Dan Heppner and Gary Van Etten hit for 20 each, John Spinneweber scored 14 and Brian Bach added 10.

So hot was the Kingston squad that the reserves scored 47 of the 115 points as Gilligan substituted freely after the beginning of the second period.

Kingston is now 2-0 in league play and 2-1 for the season. The Maroon team is slated to host unbeaten Lourdes in a non-league test on Monday.

Uclans Rip Kansas in Top Game

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Routed by the Duke Blue Devils on successive nights last week the UCLA Bruins demonstrated Friday night they aren't ready yet to yield their title as national champions in college basketball.

Dropped from No. 1 to No. 8 in The Associated Press weekly poll after their two disastrous road defeats by Duke, the Bruins bounced back at home to topple the fourth-ranked Kansas Jayhawkers 78-71. The defeat was the first for Kansas in six starts and kept intact UCLA's record of not losing at the Los Angeles Sports Arena in two seasons.

Coach Johnny Wooden switched tactics with his Bruins. After they had built up a 67-58 lead with nine minutes to play, the Bruins abandoned their usual fast break and full court press. They went into a stall and passed up many chances to shoot to keep the ball.

Mike Lynn paced UCLA with 26 points. Walt Wesley was high for Kansas with 19.

The Kansas-UCLA game featured a doubleheader before 10,382. Southern California knocked Cincinnati out of the unbeaten ranks with a 77-65 victory in the opener. Tonight the Trojans meet Kansas and UCLA takes on Cincinnati.

Vanderbilt, No. 5 in the AP rankings and the only other team in the Top Ten to see action, retained its unbeaten status as did Kentucky, Temple, Brigham Young, Washington State and Western Kentucky.

Vanderbilt, led by Jerry Southwood's 23 points, staved off a late Army rally to beat the Cadets 71-63 in the first round of the Vanderbilt Classic at Nashville, Tenn. Western Kentucky whipped Southern Methodist 8-2 68 in the other first round game.

Kentucky routed the Air Force 78-58 in the first round of the UK Invitational at Lexington, Ky. Temple crushed American Univ. 82-68, Brigham Young walloped Santa Clara 103-85 and Washington State took Denver 84 73.

Indiana defeated California 71-64 in the other first game of the UK Invitational, one of six holiday tournaments.

Washington thumped Wisconsin in the Milwaukee Classic. Clemson took Alabama 76-62 and Virginia Tech edged Massachusetts 91-88 in the VPI Invitational at Blacksburg, Va. Seattle whacked Colorado 86-69 and Arizona State came from 12 points back to beat Baylor 90-87 in the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz. Centenary nipped Virginia Military 78-77 and Tennessee overcame Lousiana Tech 71-55 in the Gulf South Classic at Shreveport, La.

Cornell snapped a three-game losing streak by beating Yale 86-75 in an Ivy League game. The Georgetown Hoyas handed Columbia its first setback 97-79. Wake Forest also toppled Duquesne from the unbeaten list 94-80, and Lamar Tech surprised Oklahoma State 67-58.

Two free throws by Pete Scully in the last 10 seconds gave Tufts its first victory over Harvard in eight years 87-85. Rhode Island swamped Manhattan 97-71 behind Steve Chubin's 30 points, and Tulsa won its fifth in a row, after an opening game defeat, by overpowering West Texas State 81-53.

Senators Get Easy Triumph Over St. Joseph's

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

It took the Senators of Ulster Community College some time (exactly four minutes) to get the kinks out of their scoring machine last night at the Municipal Auditorium.

Once they found the range, coach Mike Perry's unbeaten hoopsters roared to their sixth consecutive victory, 100-56, over an outclassed St. Joseph's Seminary quintet of Calicoon.

In hitting the century mark for the fifth straight time, the Senators received a big lift from Billy Egan, who took up the scoring slack of Cliff Schoonmaker.

While the ex-Rondout Valley ace was limited to a lone field goal, Egan connected for 23 points, finishing one behind Paul (Boots) Buytkins, who led both sides in scoring.

Egan Sparkles

Egan appeared with the Senators on the short end of a 6-5 score early in the first half. He quickly hit for a pair of deuces and then George Druttman bulled his way through a maze of players to knock in a rebound. The home side was off and running.

The lead was 55-28 at halftime and the visitors didn't get any closer in the second half. St. Joseph's threw a zone press at the Senators from the start to finish but it didn't make any difference.

Despite the fact he sat out six minutes, Buytkins had 11 baskets and a pair of foul shots for his two dozen points. Egan's 23 and 21 by Druttman and 19 by Brad Meyer contributed to the attack.

With Schoonmaker hampered by fouls, Meyer and Druttman took care of the rebounding and they swept both backboards clean.

Ulster moves into the Kate Walton Field House tonight meeting a rugged Westchester Community College quintet. Game time is 8 o'clock and a wrestling match between the schools will get underway at 6 p. m.

Big Red Cagers Top Yale, 86-75

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Cornell, fresh from snapping a three-game losing streak, is out to join the winners column Wednesday when the Big Red basketball squad journeys to Pitt.

The squad snapped the streak Friday night as it downed Yale, 86-75, at Ithaca.

Bob McCready, making his first start of the season, paced Cornell with 18 points in the feature game involving Upstate college basketball teams.

Cornell is now 3-3 and Yale is 4-2, while both are 1-1 in the Ivy League.

Cornell scored the game's first points, opened a 45-29 halftime lead and was ahead by 22 points at one time in the second half.

Meanwhile, Rensselaer Polytechnic's team enjoyed a 100 per cent shooting performance in overtime as they defeated Union, 78-73, at Troy.

Many Interesting Situations In NFL Western Division

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Will the National Football League's Western Conference race be settled in 24 hours — or 192?

That's the intriguing situation that exists as the NFL begins its final weekend of regular season action today with Green Bay, Baltimore and Chicago separated by only one game in the battle for a Jan. 2 championship berth against Cleveland.

By nightfall Sunday one of the three will be crowned the Western kings, or they will have to decide the issue in a playoff the following Sunday.

The showdown struggle begins at 4 p.m., EST, today, when the defending champion Colts meet the resurgent Rams at Los Angeles in a game that will be nationally televised by CBS. Green Bay is at San Francisco Sunday while the Bears are at home to Minnesota.

In other games Sunday, Dallas is at New York, Cleveland at St. Louis, Detroit at Philadelphia and Pittsburgh at Washington.

The American Football League, with San Diego and Buffalo crowned and ready for the title game next Sunday, closes out its regular season this weekend with nothing on the line but pride. The Houston-Boston clash gets the program underway Saturday in a nationally televised game — NBC, 1 p.m., EST.

Packers Lead

In Sunday's games, Oakland is at San Diego, Buffalo at New York and Denver at Kansas City.

The NFL western race right now shows Green Bay first with a one-half game lead over Baltimore and Chicago another one-half length behind. There are these title combinations:

—A victory for Baltimore Saturday means Green Bay would have to win Sunday to nail the title without a playoff.

—A Baltimore victory and a Green Bay tie would send the teams into a playoff Dec. 26 at Green Bay.

—A tie for Baltimore would give Green Bay the opportunity to win the title by either beating or tying San Francisco.

—A Baltimore victory and a Green Bay defeat would make the Colts champions.

—Chicago must win and both Baltimore and Green Bay lose to gain a tie.

In that event, with the Bears and Packers deadlocked, the teams would meet in a playoff, Dec. 26 at Green Bay.

The Packers, with a 10-3 record and momentum, are coming off last week's 42-27 victory over the Colts in which Paul Hornung polished up his Golden Boy tag by scoring five touchdowns. The 49ers on the other hand, may still be recuperating from last week's 61-20 mauling by Chicago.

The Bears, with a 9-4 record and only an outside shot, should get by Minnesota with sensational rookie record-breaker Gale Sayers looking to stay ahead of Cleveland's Jimmy Brown in the touchdown scoring race. Sayers, who scored six times against the 49ers, leads Brown 21-20.

Rams Are Hot

The Colts, with a 9-3-1 record and quarterback problems, likely will run into difficulty with the Rams, who suddenly have started winning behind quarterback Roman Gabriel. Baltimore will start halfback Tom Matte at quarterback with Johnny Unitas and Gary Cuozzo sidelined. Recently acquired Ed Brown also is available.

Also up for grabs Sunday is the Eastern spot in the NFL's Playoff Bowl at Miami, Jan. 9. The Dallas-New York winner goes, although the Giants currently are second with a 7-6 record to Cowboys' 6-7.

New Paltz Wins Over Red Hook

New Paltz Central took a night off from league play and won a 58-54 verdict last night at the Red Hook Cenral gym.

Coach Joe Helhoski's Huguenots took an early lead but were forced to halt a late surge by the home side.

Jeff Otis had 17 points and Rich Gibbons a dozen for the winners.

Red Hook won the jayvee tilt, 65-46.

New Paltz visits Rondout Valley on Tuesday for a pivotal UCAL tilt.

City Man Admits He Broke Window Near Police Room

City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman ordered a pre-sentence investigation today in the case of a Kingston man who admitted a malicious mischief charge in connection with an early morning scuffle at police headquarters in which he broke a window.

Unable to immediately post $50 bail, Wayne Grant, 26, of 350 Broadway, was remanded to the county jail. Bail of $50 also was set in a companion charge of third degree assault preferred by Marie Grant. Hearing on that charge was adjourned for all purposes to determine whether it should be referred to Family Court.

Police said that while being taken from police headquarters to the Court House jail about 3 a. m. after being booked on the assault charge, Grant put his fist through a pane of glass on an inner door near headquarters in City Hall. He was taken to Kingston Hospital where sutures were taken for hand cuts.

Patrolmen Meyer Levy and Raymond Wells made the investigation and arrest.

In another city court case, a third degree assault charge against Dennis L. Alexander, 24, of Box 953, Port Ewen, was referred to Family Court. Ednamae Alexander is complainant.

Woodstock Firm Low Bidder on Interchange Jobs

ALBANY — J. Burch McMorran, State Superintendent of Public Works, this week announced receipt of a low bid of $37,475 from Polyphase Construction Corp. of Woodstock for furnishing and installing highway lighting at five interchanges. Six bids were received.

Lights will be installed at Interchanges of Interstate Route 84 with Routes 9 and 52 in the Town of Fishkill, Dutchess County; I-84 interchanges with Union Avenue west of Newburgh and Route 9W at the northern edge of Newburgh, Orange County; and the traffic rotary on Route 28 at Exit 19 of the Gov. Thomas E. Dewey Thruway in Kingston, Ulster County. Local communities will maintain and operate the lights.

Work is expected to begin shortly after a contract is officially executed. The contract will be awarded, following a routine check by State engineers of all bids received, to the contractor who is found to have submitted the lowest valid bid. There usually is a lapse of about one month between receipt of bids and contract award.

Scheduled for completion by August 1, 1966, all work will be under the supervision of M. Nicholas Sinacori, District Engineer in charge of the Department's District Office at Poughkeepsie.

The male spotted Australian bowerbird can imitate other birds and galloping horses. It also steals kitchen utensils and jewelry.

Horseshoe Falls, the Canadian part of Niagara Falls, carries the greater volume of water and is receding at an average rate of about four feet a year, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Castle Point Is

proves how strong these prophets of doom were (who predicted it would be closed in a year or so). The fact that the Veterans Administration is now going into an extensive program to provide additional facilities for nursing bed care certainly indicates that Castle Point Hospital is here to stay. This is really good news for the area veterans and their families and the hospital employes. This decision will also be beneficial to the area's economy since the staff of the hospital will be increased. Castle Point has proved its value once again.

Airman Sutton, a graduate of Kingston High School, is being reassigned to Osceola Air Force Station, Wis., for duty with the Air Defense Command.

Ike Home for Yule, Leaving Reed Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will be home for Christmas.

He leaves Walter Reed Army Medical Center today to drive to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

The 75-year-old five-star general suffered a heart attack Nov. 9 while vacationing in Augusta, Ga. He was hospitalized first at nearby Ft. Gordon Army Hospital, then transferred to Walter Reed Nov. 23.

The hospital announced his planned departure Friday, but gave no report on his condition.

Doctors stopped putting out medical bulletins several weeks ago after reporting he was making normal progress.

Dismiss Assault Charge Against Kingston Man

A third degree assault charge against Vincent VanDemark, 26, of Colonial Gardens, was dismissed when the complaint was withdrawn Thursday before Justice J. McMonagle of Town of Rosendale. VanDemark, a former New Paltz police officer and deputy sheriff, was charged last Oct. 7, with third degree assault on complaint of Barbara Ann Macleod, 18, of Mountain Road, Rosendale.

When the matter, which had previously been adjourned, came up before Justice McMonagle for disposition, the complainant withdrew the charge and on motion of the district attorney's office, concurred in by Charles J. Saccoman, counsel for defendant, the complaint was withdrawn and the charge dismissed.

VanDemark was arrected last Oct. 7, by State Police BCI Investigator Joseph Franke on the assault charge lodged by complainant. VanDemark had pleaded innocent at the time of arraignment and had been under bail for a later hearing. Bail was also exonerated.

Plattekill Notes

The annual Christmas program was presented at the Plattekill Grange on Saturday evening, Dec. 11, following a short business meeting at 7:30 p. m.

The program, in charge of the lecturer, Mrs. Amy Boughton, featured a pageant, entitled "The Christmas Star" with special musical numbers, and a program by the Junior Grange, directed by Mrs. John Lenio, Junior Grange matron. This included a play, entitled "The Little Brass Bell."

Participating in this playlet were: Donna, Donald and Daniel Becker, Debbie and Sandra Twining, Eleanore, Martin and John Kopaskie, Wayne Ettell, Gregg Harris, Dorothy, Mary Ann and Joan Maxwell, Patricia Zalesak, Debbie Potter and Robin Lipsi. Mrs. Lenio handled stage setting and costuming in addition to direction.

Portraying the main roles in the pageant were: Janet Fosler, Jeanne Dawes, Judy and Eleanore Kopaskie and Mary Ann Maxwell. Mrs. Burton Ward and Mrs. Walter Kleeman served as readers. Musical selections were offered by Mrs. Mark Martini Patricia Kleeman, Mrs. Gladys Hammond, Patty Twining, Ralph Grismer, Henry Barclay, Charles Everett, Judy Kopaskie and Christine Grismer. David Dawes gave a Christmas reading.

All members, including families and friends, participated in the caroling and sharing of gifts. Each person attending brought an inexpensive gift for exchange, and the traditional spirit of Christmas was exemplified by the visit from Santa Claus and distribution of gifts from the lighted Christmas tree. Buffet style refreshments were served by Mrs. James Horton, Mrs. Alfred Harris and Mrs. Nestor Rodriquez.

An offering was taken for the purpose of sending Christmas baskets to the residents of the Benton Home for the aged and other shut-ins of the community.

The Junior Grange met December 17 from 7 to 9 p. m. to complete family Christmas gifts and trim the Grange Christmas tree. They entertained with caroling at community nursing homes and at private homes where people are confined with illness, during the Christmas season.

The next meeting of the Grange will be held on Monday evening, Dec. 27, when a holiday supper will be enjoyed by members and their families.

Stone Ridge 931

The recent regular meeting of Stone Ridge Grange 931, held at the Grange Hall, featured an evening's entertainment by Robert Fuhr of Stone Ridge. Each summer Fuhr and his wife arrange and conduct a cross country tour of the United States, known as "Wagon West." Approximately 35 teenagers make these tours, accompanied by counsellors; spending eight to nine weeks on a planned journey covering most of the points of interest between New York and the West Coast.

At the December meeting, Fuhr showed colored slides of scenes taken on last summer's tour. He also gave an interesting lecture and answered all questions. Grange members in the audience found the program interesting and entertaining.

The next regular meeting of the grange will be held on Monday, Dec. 20 when a covered dish supper will be served at 6:30 p. m., followed by a Christmas program planned by members of the Junior Grange and the subordinate grange lecturer.

All members are urged to attend this affair and each family is asked to bring a covered dish. Dessert and beverages will be furnished by the refreshment committee. There will be no exchange of gifts except between the children and members may invite friends to attend.

Lake Katrine

At the last regular meeting of the Grange, the charter was draped in memory of Jeanette Davis, a long-time and faithful member of the organization. Members also signed a get well card to be sent to Mrs. Harriet Boice, who was confined to Benedictine Hospital. The literary program was presented by the lecturer and consisted of two readings: Time That Was by Daniel Morehouse and Mother of Thanksgiving by Eleanor Morehouse.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 20 and will be preceded by a covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m. Master Charles Barruth will preside at the business meeting, and an exchange of gifts will take place.

Today's Growing Families Need 3-Bedroom Home

By JACK McELENEY

No matter what kind of home you have in mind, I'd like you to take a look at a new Associated Architects' house plan to see what it offers you and your family.

"The Whitfield," a ranch-type home, has three most comfortable bedrooms, really the minimum for today's growth in families. Its living room is large enough to fill the needs of parties, large and small, as well as quieter family gatherings. The kitchen, compact and easy to work in, is made for good cooking, you might say, and the dining room for good eating.

But let's examine "The Whitfield" in a little more detail, starting with the trio of bedrooms I've mentioned. Because they're all in a row they offer greater privacy. With wardrobes rather than closets the storage space is really superb. The master bedrooms has two wardrobes.

For convenience the bath is centrally located to sleeping and living quarters. The fixtures have a "luxury" look, not that they are expensive, but because of the way they are handled. The tub is set in a custom niche and the washbasin in a wide counter. There's a handy towel closet right in the bathroom.

The kitchen in "The Whitfield" is a room 12 by 12 feet, in which there is no wasted space. So well designed is this kitchen that it can hold a washer and dryer in addition to the standard equipment. The result is a comfortable workroom for the homemaker, in which unnecessary steps are practically eliminated, truly one-floor living.

It helps that the dining room, with its big window, is within easy reach of the kitchen. Some families have no other choice but to eat in the kitchen; here one may dine graciously at every meal.

Of course, the living room in this house is a real show place, with its fireplace and window wall. It measures 14 by 22¾ feet and has the wall space you'll need for your TV set, sofa and other long pieces of furniture. No need to use this room as a passage to the rest of the house, because there is a true center hall.

I could tell you about the features of "The Whitfield," like the built-in china cabinet, decorator wall, wood box, covered rear porch and so forth. These and others are shown in full detail in the plan that is available. Moderate in cost, this plan is really a working drawing that may be used to obtain firm estimates of building and in actual construction.

Please use the accompanying coupon to order and note if you want plans with basement, or without. With basement cubage is 26,000 cubic feet; without basement cubage is 21,000 cubic feet. The living space of "The Whitfield" is 1,280 square feet, plus 300 square feet for the garage and covered porch.

Your plan, which shows how the home may be built of wood siding, brick veneer or concrete block, calls for wiring to follow the National Electrical Code for basic fire safety. The property and construction requirements of the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) are met — this will be helpful when it comes to a mortgage.

Preparing for Repainting

It is important to dust ceilings, walls, and woodwork before repainting. Extremely dirty surfaces should be washed with a mild synthetic detergent and rinsed thoroughly with water. Allow the surface to dry before painting. Remove loose, flaking, or blistering paint with a wire brush and scraper.

Remove Hardware First

Before you begin to paint, remove the hardware from the doors and windows and loosen the light fixtures. Painting the walls and ceiling will be easier, and you will have a chance to clean and polish the metal until it looks like new.

Lee Majors Finds Gold in Hills—Hollywood Style

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He's 24, looks like a blond Elvis Presley and has the build of a football halfback, which he once was.

His fans see a brooding quality of a James Dean, which is quite natural. Dean was a boyhood idol of Lee Majors, one of the stars of ABC's "The Big Valley."

Thos. fans are growing in numbers, especially in England, where the Western series is the No. 1 American import. The show's producers, knowing a good thing, threw the focus on Majors in six out of the first 10 segments — not bad considering he's up against formidable costars in Barbara Stanwyck, Richard Long and Peter Breck.

It is even more remarkable when you consider that Majors never earned a dollar from acting before he was cast in "The Big Valley."

You're hard put to figure where to start in telling the saga of Lee Majors. You could tell how he starred at football for Indiana University and then at Eastern Kentucky State and how an injury paralyzed him for two months. He was told never to play football again.

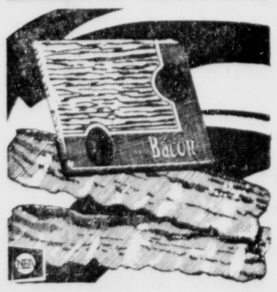

Lee came west and won a job as recreation director with the City of Los Angeles. But the idea of acting nagged at him.

"I lived right across the street from Four Star," said he of the studio where he now films "The Big Valley." "I used to sit on the porch in the morning and watch the actors go through the gate. That started me thinking.

"When I was younger, I read everything I could find about James Dean. A name that stuck in my mind was Dick Clayton, who had been Dean's agent and friend. I went to see him and asked if he had any ideas of how I could become an actor. He wasn't interested in me as a client but he suggested I take some acting lessons."

Majors did so, studying with a coach at MGM. Clayton kept track of his progress, refusing to peddle him for minor roles. Majors had never acted outside a drama class when he won the role over 500 others in "The Big Valley."

Bacon has been one of mankind's favorite meats since recorded history. It represents about 12 per cent of the live weight of a pig and in the United States refers to the fatty side between the fourth or fifth rib and the hipbone. Its chief value lies in its readily available energy or calories. A pound contains about 3,000 calories or three times as much as the average person will consume in an entire meal.

Clouds Will Persist Over Much of N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Today through Wednesday:

Considerable cloudiness will persist over much of the state a good portion of the time during the next four or five days. Occasional periods of light snow or flurries are likely from day to day, mainly over the west and north portions. Total amounts will be light.

Temperatures will gradually turn somewhat colder but still average about normal for late December.

Daytime highs will average in the 30s in most sections and possibly near 40 in the extreme south. Nighttime lows will be mainly in the 20s, going down to the teens in the mountains on one or two nights.

Woman Prepares $200,000 Suit Against Hospital

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A woman once charged with killing her husband with a shotgun blast, says she's preparing to sue the City of Binghamton and Binghamton General Hospital for $200,000, in connection with his death.

Mrs. Bethel Mamoree, 31, of nearby Colesville, is arguing that the hospital let her husband die.

The board of managers of the municipally owned hospital said Friday that Mrs. Lamoree had filed a notice of intent to sue.

Police charged Mrs. Lamoree with first-degree manslaughter in the death last Sept. 11 of her husband, Thomas H. Lamoree. The two were estranged at the time of the shooting.

A Broome County grand jury looked into the incident and decided not to indict her.

Mrs. Lamoree, the mother of two, told police that her husband came to her mother's home, where she was living, tore out the telephone wires and broke into the home. She said she fired her brother's shotgun in self-defense. Lamoree died in Binghamton General Hospital Sept. 12.

City Youth Is Fined After Trooper Chase

A teenage Kingston motorist involved in an early morning police chase today in Dutchess County, paid a $25 fine when he admitted a speeding charge at his arraignment before Peace Justice George Harrington, Town of Rhinebeck.

William Carey, 19, of 55 Stephen Street, was arrested by State Police from the Rhinebeck-Hyde Park substation after the car he was driving flipped over after a 2½-mile chase from Route 9G to Violet Hill in the Town of Rhinebeck. Troopers F. T. Petraglia and J. J. Horkan who made the arrest, said that Carey passed their patrol at a high rate of speed on Rt. 9G about 1:30 this morning. They said they gave chase and arrested the driver after the vehicle overturned. They said that Carey suffered a whiplash injury.

Data Reveals Future Space Pilots Could Stand 30 Days

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The record-breaking flight of Gemini 7's "crummy and itchy" crew has already persuaded medical officers that future pilots will be able to endure the confinement of space travel for at least 30 days.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, Gemini flight surgeon, says, "There is no limit to in-flight time if we can solve the comfort problem."

No Worse Shape

"I personally feel the Gemini 7 astronauts will be in no worse shape after 14 days than the Gemini 5 pilots were after eight days," he said.

In their 6x8-foot instrument-jammed cabin Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman and Navy Cmdr. James A. Lovell Jr. have been unable to bathe, shave or even stretch out full length since their launch Dec. 4.

They have voiced few complaints, however, except to say they felt "crummy and itchy" and that they were too warm when required to wear pressure suits. When allowed to strip down to their long underwear, both agreed that was "the only way to fly."

"Admittedly, Gemini 7 is a small spacecraft," Berry said in an interview toward the end of the two-week flight. "But if they had a larger vehicle in which they could move around I believe they could go to 30 days or even longer.

Adapted Normally

"These two men have adapted normally in their heart rates, sleep and performance. For the rest of the flight we are going to watch closely the small comfort items that may get more bothersome, such as the simple problem of getting clean."

Berry said Borman and Lovell have shown no signs of the motion sickness suffered by two of the three men aboard the Russian Voskhod 1 spacecraft in October 1964.

One of the two was a doctor, the other a scientist. Their commander, an experienced fighter pilot felt no ill effects.

Berry pointed out that the United States also plans to send scientists into space but they are being given flight training first.

Some Factors Unknown

"There are some factors we don't understand in motion sickness," he said, "but we do check the sensitivity of all astronaut candidates to this sort of stress."

Berry said there are no plans to let future astronauts shave. Razors or electric shavers would take up valuable cabin space and there is always the chance tiny pieces of whiskers might sift into electrical equipment and cause short circuits.

The crummy, itchy feeling apparently hasn't bothered Borman and Lovell too much, he said. "They have adequate water left. They could saturate tissue with water and rub their bodies down while unsuited, but they apparently haven't done so yet. As far as I know, they have used moist towels only on the face."

Added Grant

NEW YORK (AP)—An additional grant of $1.3 million has been provided for the Lincoln Center Repertory company by the Vivian Beaumont Foundation. The late Mrs. Beaumont Allen, who inherited a department store fortune, previously provided $3-million toward construction of the repertory company's permanent theater, which was named for her. The new fund includes a $300,000 contingency grant toward current expenses.

The Great Seal of the U.S. was first adopted by the Continental Congress in 1782.

Waverly Pledges Pollution Halt Of Cayuga Creek

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Village of Waverly promises to construct a sewage-disposal system to halt its pollution of Cayuga Creek in Tioga County.

The village made the agreement Friday with the State Health Department at a hearing.

Earlier the department said it had reached agreement with officials of the Gould Paper Co. plant at Lyons Falls, Lewis County, to build a waste-treatment plant by July 31, 1970. The plant will end the dumping of raw sewage and industrial wastes into the Black River.

The Village of Waverly presented a timetable with a deadline of Dec. 1, 1968, for completion of the facilities.
